Certification:	AI+ Agent
Related Exam:	AI-140

Course Overview

AI+ Agent™ provides a practical, end-to-end understanding of how AI agents are designed, built, and deployed across modern workflows. The course breaks down the architecture behind autonomous, task-driven agents—from prompt routing and tool integration to multi-agent collaboration and real-time decision-making. Learners explore agent behavior design, workflow orchestration, retrieval augmentation, and automation patterns used across industries. Through hands-on labs, they configure, test, and optimize AI agents capable of reasoning, planning, and executing tasks independently. It’s a foundational specialization for anyone building or integrating AI agents into business or technical environments.

Prerequisites & Entry Requirements

General Prerequisites:

Basic Understanding of AI Concepts – Familiarity with core AI principles

Programming Knowledge – Proficiency in Python or similar languages

Data Analysis Skills – Ability to interpret and manipulate datasets

Problem-Solving Mindset – Analytical thinking to address AI challenges

Familiarity with Machine Learning – Understanding basic ML algorithms and techniques

Learning Outcomes

Upon successful completion of this course, participants will be able to:

Understand agent architecture, components, and operational workflows

Learn how agents reason, plan, route prompts, and interact with tools/APIs

Build autonomous agents for tasks such as research, summarization, data retrieval, and automation

Apply RAG (Retrieval-Augmented Generation) to enhance agent accuracy and context awareness

Implement multi-agent systems with role-based collaboration and task delegation

Configure guardrails, monitoring, safety layers, and ethical compliance for agent deployments

Test, optimize, and evaluate agent outputs for reliability and performance
